Temecula resident earns Miami University master's degree

By Newsroom on January 20, 2016 · No Comment

OXFORD, OH – Temecula resident Jennifer Emery has earned a Master of Arts degree in Zoology from Miami University with coursework through Project Dragonfly and San Diego Zoo Global.

Since being accepted to the Advanced Inquiry Program master's degree in 2013, Emery has explored conservation and education in Baja, while also conducting projects that have made a difference in the Temecula area. Emery is a marine biology and AP biology teacher at Chaparral High School.

The AIP, a groundbreaking graduate degree focused on inquiry-driven learning and social change, combines coursework at San Diego Zoo Global and seven other U.S. partner institutions with collaborative work in Dragonfly's web-based learning communities.

Since 2004 Dragonfly and its international partner institutions have engaged more than 1,850 people in firsthand education and conservation research in communities and zoos throughout the country and at critical field sites in Africa, Australia, Asia and the Americas.

Project Dragonfly reaches millions of people each year through inquiry-driven learning media, public exhibits and graduate programs worldwide. Dragonfly is based in the department of biology at Miami University, a state university in Oxford, Ohio. Miami was established in 1809 and is listed as one of the eight original Public Ivies.

The AIP is accepting applications for the 2016 cohort until Feb. 28, at <http://AIP.MiamiOH.edu>. Like Project Dragonfly on Facebook at www.facebook.com/PrjDragonfly.
